TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

This is to certify that the Child Labour (Prohibition and Regulation) Act, 1986 is one of the most debated acts regarding children in India. The Labour Department, Govt. of West Bengal is monitoring the whole process regarding prohibition of child labour in the state. If any NGOs abide by the rules and regulations of the Govt. would undertake any programme on 'Prohibition of Child Labour Activity'. This Municipality has no objection for this programme.

Vocational training for city beggars

HT Correspondent

■ letters@hindustantimes.com

KOLKATA: Now beggars in the state can dream of making an honourable living. In a one-of-its-kind initiative, Dankuni-based NGO People's Participation has taken up the issue of rehabilitating beggars by providing them vocational training.

People's Participation is presently conducting beggar-rehabilitation projects in Dakshineshwar and Nimtala ghat. The Dakshineshwar project, sanctioned on a Department for International Development (DFID) grant of ₹11,38,000 was initially a one-year project. DFID, an arm of the UK government, sanctions funds for development projects.

The Dakshineshwar project was extended for another year

I earn less than what I used to do. But I am living with dignity and fulfilling society's requirements and completed only last month, in the course of which People's Participation claims to have rehabilitated 26 beggars. Buoyed by the success, the NGO now wants to replicate the model throughout Bengal.

A FORMER BEGGAR

"There are approximately 600 beggars in Dakshineshwar and Nimtala ghat. In Nimtala ghat, we sent 166 beggar children to school, but only 70 are pursuing studies at present. In Dakshineshwar, we targeted 40 youth but could return 28 of them to the mainstream,"

Dipankar Mitra, secretary of People's Participation, said.

The 28 youths have undergone training in repairing electronic devices such as television sets, refrigerators and air conditioners at the Belgharia Television Training Institute, with which People's Participation has a tie-up.

"What is needed is a central act on vagrancy. There are 13 different acts of vagrancy followed in different states throughout the country. Beggars are arrested, put in homes and then released after they complete their sentences. But they soon return to their old ways. What we have tried is to provide them vocational training so that they are able to lead honourable lives," Mitra said.

Agrees 18-year-old Pradip Bhowmick, a resident of Dankuni. Bhowmick used to beg in the Dakshineshwar Kali temple premises and earn around ₹9,000 a month. But he shunned begging and took up a job as an electrician with a firm on a meagre salary of ₹2,500.

"Though what I earn now is quite less than what I used to, I am living with dignity and fulfilling other people's requirements. That is a different satisfaction altogether," Bhowmick smiles.

Mitra also urged the necessity for a head count of beggars so that proper facilities could be provided to them for their uplift. "Most beggars belong to the poorest sections of society, who migrate from the villages to earn a living. If facilities available for rural poor such as Antyodaya Anna Yojana are properly implemented, they would not feel the need to beg for a living," Mitra said.

To Whom It May Concern

This is to certify that Mr. Dipankar Mitra, General Secretary of People's Participation was one of the NGO's partners of ActionAid India.

ActionAid India is a part of a global federation and a full affiliate of ActionAid International that has presence in over 40 countries worldwide. We also supported many other grassroot organisations and civil society groups and platforms to carry forward work on the issues of Natural resources, Democracy and governance, Women and girls' rights, Child Rights, Promoting peace, justice and secularism and solidarity beyond boundaries.

ActionAid India currently supports 83 long-term projects including network partners and 420 short-term projects (upto one year) for support causes of poor & marginalized people

We have support this organization with a fund of INR. 4,00,000/-, in the Financial Year 2015-16 and INR 3,12,993/- in the FY 2016- 17 for implementation of project titled "Anti Child Labour Campaign" as a foreign grant.

We also acknowledge the role and responsibility of the Secretary of this organisation who passionately contributed to social development work.

During this period I found he was strong motivator for the people & his team. It was indeed a pleasure to work with him!

Yours Sincerely,

Sudhir Kumar Shaw.
